Huge Toll By '57 Accidents

CHICAGO (AP)—Accidents in the United States last year killed 95,000 persons and injured 9 1/2 million others and resulted in an economic loss of nearly 12 billion dollars.

The National Safety Council, which announced the figures, said the all-accident death rate of 35.8 per 100,000 population was the lowest on record. The previous low was 35.9 in 1954.

The number killed in accidents last year compared with 94,780 in 1956 when the death rate was 36.7. The council said that one out of every 18 persons in the country suffered a disabling injury last year.

Motor vehicle accidents, which accounted for 38,500 deaths last year, retained their traditional role as No. 1 killer. The 1956 toll was 39,828 or 3 per cent higher.

NEW YORK (AP)—Violence flared anew in the city school system yesterday, with one school boy monitor being beaten and another stabbed. The assaults occurred in Manhattan and the Bronx.

The outbreaks followed by a day a plan by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and the City Board of Education to curb crime in the city's nearly 900 public schools. In recent weeks a rash of rapes, hoodlums, assaults and knifings has led to posting of policemen at 41 public schools. Both Negroes and whites have been involved.

Although only a small percentage of the city's million pupils have been involved, the wave of lawlessness has touched off a continuing dispute between the Board of Education and the special Brooklyn grand jury probing crime in the schools.

Has Lincoln Lost His Senses???

The judge and jury trying his client, Duff Armstrong, for murder seem to have already decided that Armstrong is guilty.

And here's Abe with a doctor explaining complicated medical points about the direction of the death blow. It looks like it will take a good deal more than that to change the minds of this skeptical jury.

But, as many people later discovered, young lawyer Lincoln could never be counted out of a struggle where human emotions were the deciding factor.

You'll read how Abe Lincoln used a skull, an almanac and a heartfelt plea to the jury in defense of his client. Read all about it in—

The 4,700,000 boys and leaders of the Boy Scouts of America will launch a year-long National Safety Good Turn during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13.

The Scouts' national service project was suggested by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, honorary president of the Boy Scouts.

In a White House message, President Eisenhower told the Scouts:

"In our land each individual is of inestimable worth, yet in no other land do accidents cause a more terrible loss of human life and limb. This fact cannot be passively accepted. We must seek new ways to save the basic resources of our nation: its people.

"Encouraged by the splendid results of your Conservation Good Turn four years ago, I now urge you to adopt safety as your service project for 1958. Through the concerted action of your members, and in cooperation with other organizations, you can alert the public to the urgent need for reducing the tragic toll of accidents.

"This is an opportunity for service to your country in the highest tradition of the Boy Scouts of America."

The Scouts' National Good Turn is being coordinated nationally and locally with other safety programs and campaigns. National safety organizations have advised and assisted Scout leaders in developing plans and projects.

During March, April and May, the projects will involve traffic safety. Outdoor safety projects will keep Scouts busy in July and August. Home safety will be featured in September, October and November.

Next October, the Boy Scouts will distribute to approximately 35,000,000 homes a civil defense booklet on family preparedness for emergencies.

We congratulate the Boy Scouts on past achievements and wish them well as they undertake this great public service to the community, state and nation.

New Secretary
The meeting Wednesday evening followed a school board meeting Tuesday evening at which James D. Spangler, 317 Diller Rd., was elected secretary of the board to succeed Charles F. Zeigler, who had served as secretary since February, 1956. Zeigler succeeded John L. Sneeinger who had resigned as a board member and secretary. Zeigler was one of three members appointed by the Adams County court to fill vacancies on the board in January, 1956.

A letter received by the board Tuesday night from Attorney Edward B. Bulleit, board solicitor, noted that a state law provides for election of secretaries for four-year terms starting in May, 1953.

The same law provides that if the secretary elected May, 1953, resigned or otherwise needed to be replaced, the successor served only to June, 1957, and that then a secretary was to be named to fill a four-year term ending in 1961. The letter noted that the law is one of the few that provides specific four-year terms and that persons elected to replace those originally elected fill out only the unexpired term.

Present at Tuesday's session were President Clark H. Wildasin, G. Roscoe Worley, Spangler, Zeigler and Henry E. Leppo. Following the meeting Zeigler resigned as a member of the board effective immediately. The board has 30 days in which to name a successor. Otherwise the successor must be named by the Adams County court, Attorney Bulleit said today.

THREE PLANS TO GET ECONOMIC RECOVERY GOING

NEW YORK (AP) — Plans to get a business recovery off the launching pad run largely today to three types of economic fuels:

1. Easier credit to make borrowing at business and consumer levels attractive.
2. Increased government spending to restore a bit of the late inflationary zip.
3. A possible tax cut to give consumers, and maybe business too, more money to buy goods.

The Deeper Causes

These efforts aid at offsetting the deeper causes of the present slump: leveling off of consumer spending and borrowing to buy, especially of durable goods; and the drop in business spending for capital goods (plant and equipment) and for inventories.

The countermoves also attack the two things blamed by some for triggering off the recession — tight money and the economy wave in defense ordering and spending.

The first two fuels are being tried now. Credit is easier, with interest rates down.

Federal government ordering for defense is already up and spending will rise as the goods are delivered. State and local spending is rising.

President Eisenhower said in this week's news conference that he looks for the current recession to continue through this month and next but that as summer comes on there should be an up-trend. He added that if the upturn failed to develop it could be that the administration will recommend a tax cut.

Meanwhile, most figures coming in just add up to a clearer picture of how deep the dip has already gone.

Total unemployment continues to rise with a turning point thought to be 6 to 10 weeks away.

January auto output was the lowest for that month since 1954. Steel production is far below that of a year ago. Oil companies have various gasoline price wars on their hands.

Cotton textile mills have cut output and sliced inventories but prices are still weak.

Business spending for plant and equipment and inventories is well below peak. Planning for the near-term future is being revised.

Can Change Soon

The steel industry has spent 10 billion dollars since World War II to build up a huge capacity, almost half of which is lying idle today.

Last year it spent 1 1/4 billion dollars on expansion. It will spend 750 million dollars less this year. Auto makers production plans apparently are being held close to actual buying trends of consumers.

Today's Talk

LIFE'S SAVINGS

Life's best savings do not all go into a savings bank, important as this may be. The best savings in life are concentrated in the books that we love, or have loved, and the friends that have marked our way through the years. My library is a mecca of books to which I turn every day of my life. When the living friends are no longer near, or have left me quite alone, there are my books that remain.

If I were to be deprived of my material savings, I would still be a very rich man, for all about me would be my books, and near at hand many a friend, or the happy memory of such a one. I look upon these two gains of life as far more valuable, and far better, than gold!

When we read a book we are reading the life story of the one who wrote it, for it is impossible for a writer not to keep revealing himself in his book. "If you want to know about me," wrote Montaigne, "read my book."

Another thought about the reading of many books: Each one introduces us to scores of characters who, though supposedly fictional, are mostly taken right out of life itself. Many of the great and famous names of people in novels we learn to know, many of them inspiring us throughout life. The characters in Hugo's "Les Misérables," Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities" and "Jane Eyre" as examples.

Our friends drop away from us but their precious memory remains. Love is not dissolvable. Its fragrance never leaves the world. It is planted deep in people's hearts. It's life's choicest saving.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Immortal Twins" Protected, 1958, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

THE BOASTER

He never planted seeds that didn't grow.
He never tried a job he couldn't do.
He is always very quick
To detect the shrewdest trick
And nobody ever bunned him.
It's true.
He's a brilliant and a wonderful success.
Though I never saw him show a roll of pelf;
But I'm sure he must be great.
For I'm very free to state
He's very often told me so himself.

There aren't many things that he has never done.
And it's certain that he's onto all the ropes.
But with all this talk and blarney,
I would really like to know
If he ever tried to pick out cantaloupes?
There is one thing more I'll bet he cannot do
And on it I'll wager now my wad of pelf;
I will gamble now with you
Every solitary sou.
He can't talk on any subject but himself.

Reserve Decision On Tax Sale Upset

Judge Walter I. Anderson and George W. Atkins, York, reserved decision Tuesday on a request to set aside the sale of a 99-acre tract in Codorus Twp., including Bowling Green Speedway, at a tax-upset sale by York County Tax Claim Bureau last August.

At a session of argument court Tuesday, Attorney William W. Hafer, counsel for Maitland Brothers, Littlestown, contended that the sale should be voided on the ground the property was not adequately described in advertisements prepared by the tax claim bureau for the sale.

Maitland Brothers has a $15,000 mechanic's lien judgment against the speedway for work done in its construction.

Brush Fire Calls 4 Adams Companies

Four Adams County fire companies were called out about 7:20 p.m. Tuesday when a brush fire broke out on the farm of Dennis Eppey, Hanover R. 4, near Brush-town. It was extinguished by the Brush-town Fire Co. before any damage resulted.

Claude Murren, chief of that company, stated that the alarm was turned in at the company engine house by a passing motorist. In the meantime other calls were made to the Conewago, Centennial and McSherrytown which sent trucks to the scene. Murren said that the other three companies were not summoned by his company or a call made for assistance, and stated that John W. Murren, Hanover R. 4, Adams County fire marshal, has been requested to investigate why the other three companies were called.

$100 Boost For Teachers Okayed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The business committee of the Philadelphia Board of Education has approved a $100 yearly pay boost for some 4,000 teachers in city schools. Numerous teachers' groups protested last December when beginning teachers received a $200 hike for 1958, while veteran teachers got $100 increases. Those objecting said it was unfair to single out beginners and those at the maximum salary levels for raises.

RECOVER SOME MOON WRECKAGE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Some wreckage from the destruction of a Vanguard rocket Wednesday has been recovered near the launching site, it was learned today.

The nature of the material was not disclosed. Parts of the big missile were found on the sand flats not far from the Vanguard launch stand.

There also were reports that some debris had been recovered from shallow waters just off Cape Canaveral.

Navy Vanguard experts were going over the material closely, seeking clues to the cause of the spectacular blowup.

The Naval Research Laboratory at Washington blamed the failure of its second Vanguard rocket on a faulty control system governing the first-stage engine.

This failure, the Navy said, caused the engine to deflect sharply to the right and "the resultant abnormally high forces caused the rocket to break in the middle."

5-lb. Piece Of Ice Falls From Sky

READING, Pa. (AP) — Another chunk of ice-from-the-sky — this one weighing about five pounds — has turned up in nearby Shillington.

Mrs. Lee Beyer found the ice in her back yard yesterday after hearing a loud thud. She telephoned Dr. Malcolm Reider, a research chemist, who had studied previous pieces of ice which have fallen in the area. Dr. Reider took samples of the ice for laboratory tests. He said it appeared the ice had come from an airplane, since it had a corrugated surface.

Brazil occupies more than half the South America continent — 3,275,510 square miles. It is larger than the United States which has 3,026,789 continental square miles.

ning teachers received a $200 hike for 1958, while veteran teachers got $100 increases. Those objecting said it was unfair to single out beginners and those at the maximum salary levels for raises.

The 1958 pay scale calls for teachers with bachelor's degrees to start at $3,900 a year, while those with master's degrees receive a minimum of $4,100.

Says Road Work Can Start May 30

DANVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Z. H. Confair, president of the Keystone Shortway Assn., told a meeting here last night the group's May 30 target date for start of the cross-state superhighway should be met.

"The money is in Washington; the money is in Harrisburg. There's no reason why it can't start now," he declared.

Some 75 business, labor and civic leaders from Columbia, Montour, Snyder and Northumberland counties attended the meeting, part of a drive to organize the 27 counties lying along the short-way route in support of the association's aims and its $50,000 fund raising campaign.

Confair also told the group that until recently a report by the Baker engineering firm that the Pennsylvania Turnpike bonds should be retired by 1967 had been withheld from Gov. Leader. The shortway group feels this development removes objections to undertaking the shortway financing.

ALL CHAMPS IN FIRST HALF IN CAGE RUNNING

HARRISBURG (AP) — First-half champions buttressed their positions this week as schoolboy basketball teams across the state launched campaigns for second-half crowns.

In the major leagues, not one first-round champ lost. About half the title-holders are repeaters from last year.

One independent contender — Johnstown in District 6 — was eliminated from a shot at the district title, and another, Williamsport, was faced with the pleasant prospect of having to play only 333 ball to enter the playoffs in District 4.

In District 10, Erie Strong Vincent wrapped up its second consecutive Section I title undefeated in league play.

Picture In West
Here's the picture in the west: Dist. 6 — Westmont, sporting an 11-3 record now, eliminated Johnstown from a berth in the district playoffs with a 55-49 triumph.

Defending district champion Altoona followed up a win over powerful Williamsport by thrashing Renovo, 80-48.

Dist. 7 — Two-thirds of the section leaders in the sprawling WPAL remain undefeated. Ford City continued its Section I supremacy by downing Har-Brack, 75-50.

In Section III, Sharon, the state champ, and Farrell remained tied for first place. Sharon beat Beaver Falls, 49-38, and Farrell nosed out Ellwood City, 52-51.

Dist. 9 — Dubois, challenger to Punxsutawney for the District 9 league title, beat defending champion Clearfield, 47-40.

Dist. 10 — Erie Strong Vincent, now sporting a 13-2 record counting non-league outings, sewed up its second straight Section I title by beating McDowell, 71-54.

VENTURI SEEKS THREE IN ROW IN TUCSON OPEN

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — en Venturi, currently the hottest golfer on the pro circuit, is out to make it three in a row in the $15,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament, which starts today.

But the 26-year-old San Francisco, recent winner of the Thunderbird Invitational and the Phoenix, is only one of a dozen contenders considered as likely winners.

PGA Supervisor Harry Raynor says the flat, 434-yard, par-70 El Rio Country Club course is so easy that 72 holes of par golf isn't expected to win a dime—unless it rains.

"Good" Not Enough
Venturi, who wants to become the greatest golfer in the world, says he won't be satisfied just to shoot a good round.

"I want to know why," he explains, "low scores don't always mean the best golf. I want to know the things I did right, so I can do them again. I want to correct what was wrong."

Venturi gained national recognition in 1955 when, as an amateur, he went into the final round of the Masters Tournament with a four-stroke lead. He shot 80, lost and exploded verbally after coming off the course.

Learns By Losing
Venturi believes finishing second may be more valuable than winning.

"I want to win," he explains, "but I think you learn more by losing. I didn't know how to cope with the situation at the Masters."

In the Tucson event, Venturi will have to contend, among others, with Frank Stranahan, winner of the Los Angeles Open; E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who took top money at the Tijuana Open; and J. C. Goosse, winner of the El Centro, Calif., Open.

Byrd, with 36 points, fattened his average to 26.3 in Marshall's 96-89 victory over Ohio University last night.

Greer, hand-picked by the late Cam Henderson to become the first Negro varsity athlete in the school's 120-year history, got 28 against the Bobcats and now is at 25.7 after 16 games.

The team has won 12 and lost 4.

DUPAS SEEKING SHOT AT TITLE

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Classy Ralph Dupas of New Orleans wants a shot at Joe Brown's lightweight championship, and he and his handlers are willing to take just about any step that will assure it.

Dupas took a long step in the title direction in Norfolk's once-a-year fight last night with a split decision over welterweight Gaspar Ortega of Mexico.

"Ralph is ready to meet anybody in the lightweight or welterweight division who will lead to a title shot," said Dupas' trainer, Angelo Dundee.

The second-ranked lightweight, who scaled 141 pounds to Ortega's 145, got a 99-92 nod from Referee Paddy Mills and a 98-92 edge from Judge Charles Ford on the 10-point "must" basis. Judge John Burton scored the bout a draw, 96-96. The Associated Press scorecard had Dupas ahead 99-92.

Dupas, 22, ran his career record to 69 victories, eight defeats and six draws by keeping on the move and making the taller Mexican fighter miss often. Ortega, the fifth-ranked welterweight, lost some prestige in defeat—his 12th against 45 career triumphs.

Ike Considers Plans For Worldwide Cultural Parley

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower is considering a plan for a worldwide cultural conference to seek "new and better ways for human beings to exist peacefully together" and to benefit more from scientific discoveries.

Sherman Adams, the President's chief aide, disclosed the project last night.

He said the President last week "asked some able people to consider how such a project might be initiated."

Who Can Say?

Adams, describing the scope of the proposed conference, asked this rhetorical question: "Who is there who can say that a convocation in this country of scholars, historians, artists, theologians, educators, sociologists, philosophers, artists and musicians — representatives of the cultural pursuits of all the human race — meeting each other in their respective groups — could not suggest new and better ways for human beings to exist peacefully together and to reap the greatest rewards from man's scientific discoveries?"

No Propaganda Effort

Adams discussed the project in addressing a Dartmouth College national alumni dinner. He is a graduate of Dartmouth, at Hanover, N.H., and a former governor of New Hampshire.

Adams suggested that a conference such as the one under consideration might be organized and sponsored better by American colleges and universities than by the U.S. government.

He added: "For this must be no propaganda effort or labeled as such. It must be undertaken by those whose contributions offer the best promise of making it a success."

DESIGNER SAYS GOOD DRESS IS TO BE TIMELESS

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
A good dress should be timeless. No gadgets. No extremes.

That's the fashion philosophy of Roxane, designer for Samuel Winston of New York, known for the extreme simplicity and sophisticated lines of her clothes. Says she:

"Well-dressed women wear traditional clothes. They don't go in for the extreme or the grotesque. They choose simple things that do something for them. They are busy about fine fabrics and perfect fit. Their own poise, personality and figure takes care of the rest."

"Gadgets" Fashions

"The gadgety, extreme fashions are the ones that are always left hanging on the rack, and that are marked down for clearance sales at the end of the season."

In private life Roxane, small, vivacious, with curly silver-blond hair, is Mrs. David Kamenstein, wife of a hardware tycoon and mother of three sons, David, 15; Peter, 13, and Michael, 10. Until recently the family lived on a 340-acre farm near Princeton, N. J., where the versatile Roxane became intimately

NASSER BEGINS NEGOTIATIONS ON NEW POWERS

CATRO (AP) — President Nasser begins negotiations today to determine just how far his dictatorship over Egypt and Syria will extend over Yemen.

Yemeni Crown Prince Seif el Islam el Badr, who is also premier of Yemen, brought instructions from his father to arrange membership in the United Arab Republic. The father, Imam Ahmed, is absolute ruler of the 4½ million persons in the undeveloped land on the Arabian Peninsula.

The ailing, 66-year-old Imam is not expected to relinquish any internal power to Nasser, who said earlier that other Arab nations would be welcome to federate with the republic. Federation would allow Arab kings to keep their thrones in the new union.

Hears Nasser Powers

Yemen for some time has followed Egyptian-Syrian foreign policy and been linked with the two other Arab nations in a joint military command. Federation presumably would formalize and extend these arrangements.

El Badr arrived in time to hear Nasser outline the sweeping powers he will have as head of the U.A.R. in a speech to the Egyptian National Assembly. Nasser listed 17 major points of a "provisional" constitution providing for presidential appointment of a single legislature and executive councils for the "provinces" of Syria and Egypt, presumably an extension of Egypt's present single political party, which Nasser controls.

The Egyptian Parliament roared its approval and nominated Nasser to the U.A.R.'s first president. In Damascus, Syrian President Shukri Kuwaty made the same report to his Parliament, nominated Nasser, and got the same unanimous approval.

Report Celebrations

Celebrations throughout Syria were reported and the government declared a three-day holiday.

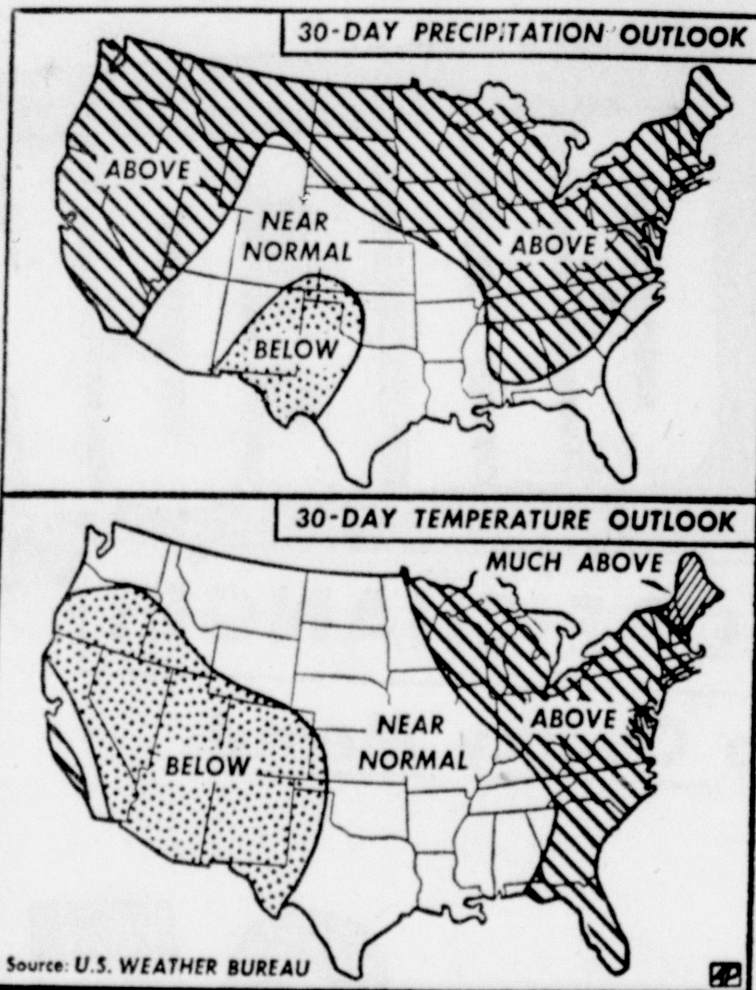

Nasser's unopposed nomination and the provisional constitution will be ratified in a plebiscite Feb. 21, Egyptian officials said the acquainted with the problems of cows and chickens. Nor was she that well-known genius, the week-end farmer. For years she commuted daily from the rolling fields of Jersey to the canyons of New York's garment center.

Called Back To N. Y.

Formerly an executive buyer, Roxane retired to the farm in 1952 with the avowed intention of raising cows. Then Winston, an old friend, persuaded her to come in to New York "just for a few hours a week," to supervise his designing rooms.

"I came in for a few hours, and ended up working morning, noon and night," says the designer, giggling. "But I found I got so interested I couldn't stop."

ANPA URGING LEGISLATION TO STOP ABUSE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. today called for congressional action "to preserve for the people their right to know what their public servants are doing."

The ANPA endorsed proposed legislation that would prevent government officials from using the language of a 1789 law dealing with the handling of records to give them the blanket right to withhold information to which the public is entitled.

The ANPA views were contained in a statement by Col. J. Hale Steinman for presentation to the House Government Information Subcommittee headed by Rep. Moss (D-Calif.). Steinman is publisher of the Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer-Journal and New Era, and chairman of the ANPA Federal Laws Committee.

Must Have Facts

Similar views were expressed in prepared testimony by James S. Pope of Louisville, Ky., representing the Southern Newspaper Publishers Assn., and by Clark Mollenhoff of Washington, speaking for the professional journalists' fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi.

Pope, executive editor of the Courier Journal and Louisville transition period until a permanent constitution is written will last about six months.

There was no indication what will happen to Kuwaty. In addition to making the legislative and executive council appointments, the President will set the powers of the councils and have a veto over their actions. A veto over legislative enactments also was implied.

Times, said people in a democracy must have access to information so they can govern themselves properly. He said there should be more "top public," and less top secret, government information.

Mollenhoff, Washington correspondent for Cowles publications, said Congress should "stop being a third-rate division of government and insist on the right to write the laws and have them properly administered."

Wrong Use Of Law

Steinman said government heads have distorted the intent of a law passed in the administration of George Washington and designed as a "housekeeping" law concerning the keeping of records and establishment of a filing system.

He said officials use the law in absence of specific statutes as authority for their decisions on what they will make available to the public.

"Such interpretations as to the meaning of the statute have changed the law from authority to keep records and set up filing systems into a claim of authority to keep the filing cabinets locked and the records hidden from the public," Steinman said.

LONDON (AP) — H. M. Tomlinson, 84, British author, was correspondent and adventurous historian, died yesterday. He was born in London.

RUMSON, N.J. (AP) — Col. Michel Jacobs, 80, portrait painter and author, died Tuesday. He was the founder of the Metropolitan Art School of New York and the author of several books on art.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Author Henry Kuttner, 43, who specialized in science fiction, died Tuesday.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Dr. Everett Gill Sr., 88, of Wake Forest, N.C., former Southern Baptist missionary to Europe, died yesterday. He was born in Randolph County, Mo.

DISSENSION IN HOUSE GROUP IS FOGGING FCC INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dissension within a House subcommittee left in doubt today the future course of its hearings on allegations of improper conduct against five members of the Federal Communications Commission.

Several of the FCC commissioners, denying any misconduct or impropriety, asked for more specific charges.

The investigation involves allegations by the subcommittee staff that five of the FCC's seven members improperly accepted favors from the broadcasting industry they are charged with regulating.

Focus Of Wrangling

Several subcommittee members supported the protesting commissioners in a hearing marked by wrangling over procedure. One member, Rep. Moss (D-Calif.), described the argument as almost a "filibuster."

Focus of the wrangling was the manner in which subcommittee counsel Bernard Schwartz questioned FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer.

At the end of the day, Rep. Moulder (D-Mo.), subcommittee chairman, told reporters the subcommittee would meet for three days next week, beginning Monday, with the FCC still under inquiry.

Before that, however, the subcommittee will hold a closed-door session Friday. Moulder said he assumed it would go into the question of specific charges.

Nothing Improper

In letters made public by the investigating group, all the commissioners acknowledged receiving promotional gadgets, food

The Lebanon Valley College Glee Club of Annville will give a concert February 12 at 8 p.m. in the Taneytown High School auditorium. The quartet, shown above, includes: Harold Weitzel, Reinholds, Pa.; John Colangelo, Harrisburg, Pa.; Nancy Kulp, West Lawn, Pa.; Susan Zimmerman, Akron, N. Y. The group is part of the orchestra which accompanies the Glee Club this year.

Taneytown

TANEYTOWN — Miss Marcia Reifsnider returned on Monday to Western Maryland College, Westminster, after spending the mid-semester vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Miles S. Reifsnider, Baust Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Winchester and family, Perryville, Md., were gifts and expenses to industry gatherings. But each denied misconduct or receipt of improper favors from the broadcasting industry.

Allegations of misconduct have been aimed at Doerfer, and Commissioners Rosel Hyde, Robert T. Bartley, Robert E. Lee and Richard A. Mack.

The other commissioners are T. A. M. Craven and Frederick W. Ford. Moulder has said there are no allegations of misconduct against them.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Fowler, and family and Mr. and Mrs. David Little, York St.

A group of young people and their advisors from the Evangelical United Brethren Church attended a self-denial banquet at Chewsville, Md., Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Buchanan Jr., Norristown, Pa., were weekend guests of their uncle and aunt, A. H. Carpenter and Miss Liza Carpenter, Middleburg Rd.

Mrs. Elma Shoemaker, York St., left Wednesday to spend some time with her sister, Mrs. Lula Schuler, Braddock Heights, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Arnold and son, George, E. Baltimore St., were Sunday dinner guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cobb, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Janet Smith and daughter, Miss Mary Shriver, E. Baltimore St., attended the 40th wedding anniversary on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs.

REPLACEMENT OF BLUE LAWS IS CONSIDERED

HARRISBURG (AP) — A concerted effort among religious, business, civic and labor leaders was underway in Pennsylvania today to bring order out of the confusion over Sunday business activities.

The group held a preliminary meeting yesterday, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor and agreed to name a 25-member committee to "formulate a plan of action on the Sunday sales matter."

The ultimate goal, PFL President James A. McDonough said, would be enactment of legislation to replace the ancient blue laws now on the statutes. The code, enacted in 1794, proscribes Sunday activities which were considered in violation of religious and moral principles.

125 Attend Meeting

Sentiment was expressed at the meeting, attended by 125 persons, that the old laws "are unenforceable, outdated and need spelling out."

There was no feeling, however, for complete relaxation of the law. "We have to educate the public to the evils of this practice of selling non-essential items on Sundays in Pennsylvania," McDonough summed up.

He said the 25-member committee would probably be named within two weeks and that another meeting of the group would be set then.

Ira Houck, held in the parish house of St. John's Reformed Church, Woodboro, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Denton Twigg, Westminster, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gorman, R. D.

Negro Students

Henry Hudson Junior High School in the Bronx was knifed at the entrance of the school building Phillip Romano, who is white, was stationed at the school entrance to keep students from entering before the opening bell. Five minutes before the bell, Romano barred a 14-year-old boy, a Negro, from entering. Romano was stabbed in the stomach and an operation was necessary. His condition was described as satisfactory. The 14-year-old boy was arraigned on a juvenile delinquency charge and paroled in the custody of his mother.

Another Negro Arrested
A Negro teenager—not a student—was seized in Manhattan's High School of Music and Art. The youth, Robert Ashby, 19, was identified by police as the person who robbed one of the school's white pupils last Jan. 27, and a second one yesterday. He was accused of taking their watches and small amounts of cash while pretending to be carrying a gun in his pocket.

Both of the victimized students identified Ashby as the youth who held them up. Ashby was quoted by police as saying he was "on dope" and needed money to buy more.

EXPERTS START DRIVE TO CURB ROAD DEATHS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's top traffic safety experts came to Harrisburg today to map a long-range program to cut the state's annual toll of road deaths and injuries.

The group is the executive board of Gov. Leader's traffic safety council, headed by Dr. Amos E. Neyhart, director of the institute of public safety at Pennsylvania State University.

O. D. Shipley, director of the State Bureau of Highway Safety, and a member of the executive group said prior to the closed meeting that the experts would work out a long term proposal for consideration by the full council at meetings tomorrow.

10-Year Program

"The board agreed to formulate a blueprint for a 10-year program of the most pressing needs that we have to cope with in this traffic accident problem," Shipley declared.

"The long-term program was suggested by Dr. Neyhart, who feels this is not a year-by-year proposition," he added. "He feels we must plan for the future with the complete understanding that the program will be flexible and can be changed if new problems so dictate."

The council was named by Gov. Leader Dec. 13, 1952, as a means

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—One nice way to save a whopping chunk on your income tax is to have (A) a lot of income to start with and (B) some object of art, like an expensive painting.

The rest is simple. For example, take Mortimer Mistletoe, a fat cat with an income of a million dollars a year.

Like everyone else he's allowed to deduct up to 20 per cent of his taxable income for charitable contributions, provided he actually gave that much to charity. For Mortimer that 20 per cent deduction on a million-dollar income would be $200,000.

Hit On Ideas

But Mortimer's trouble was that he never gave $200,000 a year to charity. In fact, he never managed to hand out more than 10 per cent—or $100,000—of his one million that way.

He'd still like to find some way to deduct the maximum $200,000 of curbing the climbing toll of highway deaths and injuries in Pennsylvania. Since then, the committee's recommendations, coupled with administration programs, have reduced the state's fatality rate.

FREED WOMAN LOOKS TO NEW LIFE IN STATES

FRANKLIN, Pa. (AP)—Free from the glare of publicity surrounding her trial on a murder charge, Mrs. Lydia Dean looked forward today to a new life for herself and her three-year-old daughter, Phyllis.

The comely 22-year-old Filipino widow was found innocent by a jury Tuesday in the fatal shooting of her American husband, Air Force 2-Sgt. Ronald Dean last Dec. 7.

After leaving the jail yesterday Lydia visited St. Patrick Roman Catholic Church with her mother, Mrs. Eugenia C. De Deen, and offered prayers of thanksgiving.

Then she visited the cemetery where her husband is buried in nearby Pleasantville and placed two dozen red roses on his grave.

Will Remain In U. S.

Lydia plans to remain in the United States, hoping to make a living as a stenographer or a secretary.

R. W. Voorhies, Veterans Affairs officer for Venango County, said Lydia probably will be eligible for $10,000 insurance carried on Dean as a serviceman. She also may be eligible for a lump sum of about $1,500 as a gratuity based on her husband's monthly salary and length of service. All payments must be approved by authorities in Washington.

Atty. Gerald McGill, who helped defend Mrs. Dean, said he had received a telephone call from Capt. Larry Johnson, one of Dean's former commanders, offering to take Lydia and Phyllis on an expense-paid four week vacation in Florida. Johnson is a jet plane instructor at Wright-Patterson AFB, Dayton, Ohio.

URGES PLANT CONSTRUCTION

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Leader Administration was reported today preparing a plea to private industry to speed up contemplated plant construction as a move to ease mounting unemployment.

A source, who declined quotation by name, said hundreds of thousands of dollars in proposed construction is on the rawing boards of many industries throughout the commonwealth.

"If we can persuade these industries to accelerate their plans—just as we are doing for public works—it should help to solve the unemployment problem."

The Governor recently proposed spending 200 million dollars in public works at the federal, state and municipal level in Pennsylvania as a means of developing jobs.

He told his cabinet yesterday at a special meeting that he expects some key administration personnel to work day and night if necessary to get the program moving and warned he would "fire anyone dragging their heels and giving half-hearted support to this program."

allowed him. Then he hits on an idea which the Internal Revenue Service has approved. It's an idea which already may be at work in some art museum you visit.

For instance: You may see a picture adorned with the name of some individual and the information that the picture is on loan from him to the museum.

Gets Deduction

This is what Mortimer does. He has some paintings worth a million dollars. He decides to let some public art gallery have the use of them for part of the year. Say that in his case it was a tenth of a year.

It isn't a loan. He must deed the pictures to the gallery for a tenth of the year. He keeps them in his home for the other nine tenths.

But for deeding the pictures to the gallery for a tenth of a year he can knock a tenth of their worth off his income tax for that year. Since they're worth a million dollars, that would be $100,000.

Can Repeat Next Year

That $100,000, added to the $100,000 Mortimer is deducting for charitable contributions, gives him a total, permitted deduction of $200,000, or 20 per cent of his million-dollar income.

What happens next year? He can repeat the dose, giving the gallery an added tenth ownership of his pictures, and so on year after year until he has taken off as tax deduction the one million dollars the pictures were worth originally.

At the end of that time the museum gets full possession of the pictures. Mortimer can't take them home any more or knock anything more off his tax for deeding the pictures to the gallery.

When He Dies

The Internal Revenue Service doesn't give out information on how many rich people—with expensive paintings—are doing just this. But a number have done and are doing it.

Suppose, instead of doing things this way, Mortimer willed his paintings to the museum. He couldn't take a dime off his income tax for that, since he'd be in possession of the pictures until he died.

FLORIDA'S 3RD FREEZE ENDS

Florida's third damaging cold spell of the winter season appeared ended today as temperatures climbed to around normal levels in most areas.

The cold air which brought the freezing weather into Florida and other sections of the Southeast this week shifted eastward and warm breezes from the Gulf region swept northward, spreading rain over wide areas of the East. Temperatures were mostly 10 to 20 degrees higher in the Southeast than yesterday morning, with readings in the 40s and 50s. Miami's early morning mark of 56 compared with a below-freezing 28 degrees yesterday morning. Florida's cold weather has caused widespread damage to citrus and vegetable crops.

Wet weather prevailed in many sections from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast, while scattered showers persisted in the Pacific Northwest.

Dr. Moorhead Says Century Ahead Will Be Known As The 'Age Of The Mathematicians'

A paper titled "The Queen of the Sciences," delivered before a meeting of the Gettysburg-Adams County Torch Club last November by Dr. M. Scott Moorhead, member of the faculty of Gettysburg College, is printed in condensed form in the January issue of The Torch, quarterly publication of the International Association of Torch Clubs.

Dr. Moorhead, who is a member of the local Torch Club, is an assistant professor of mathematics at the college here. He holds B.A. and M.A. degrees from Washington and Jefferson College and a Ph. D. Degree from the University of Pittsburgh. He has taught high school mathematics, has been a public school administrator, industrial engineer for U. S. Steel and a pilot in the U. S. Air Force.

Dr. Moorhead introduced his talk on mathematics this way:

"Root of Knowledge"
"At the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago in 1933 and 1934 there was displayed a drawing called the Tree of Knowledge. The branches of this tree were subjects of human endeavor, such as astronomy, forestry, animal husbandry, public health, education, sociology, economics, pharmacology, medicine and many branches of engineering. Supporting these important divisions of human knowledge were roots variously labeled as anthropology, astronomy, bacteriology, botany, chemistry, geology, physics, psychology, zoology, and—as the tap root of the whole structure, mathematics."

"Carl Friedrich Gauss, who shares preeminence among mathematicians with Archimedes and Newton, expresses the same idea in these words: 'Mathematics is queen of the sciences. She often condescends to render service to astronomy and other natural sciences, but under all circumstances the first place is due her.'"

"Whether as history or prophecy, Gauss's declaration is far from an overstatement. Time after time in the 19th and 20th centuries, major scientific theories have come into being only because the very ideas, in terms of which the theories have meaning, had been created by mathematicians years, decades or even centuries before anyone saw their possible applications."

Traced To Greek Geometers

Turning then to an examination of a number of definitions of mathematics, Dr. Moorhead said: "Just what is mathematics? What goes on in that extraordinary world of rules and symbols? Surprisingly few people have any actual knowledge of it beyond what they learned in school and most of that is forgotten. The residue is a confused jumble of general impressions, none of which could stand a critical inspection."

He discussed the history of mathematics from the days of the geometers of ancient Greece but pointed out, "Even before the planets were formed, every two particles of planetary matter were attracting each other by a force directly proportional to the product of their masses and inversely proportional to the square of the distance between them, a relation simply expressed by an algebraic formula. So no man can point to a particular time and place and say, 'Then and there mathematics began.'"

"The first clear cut writing on the subject that has been preserved intact to this day dates back to between 35 and 40 centuries ago. It is called the Ahmes after the Egyptian scribe who compiled it or the Rhind Papyrus after the English Egyptologist who discovered it and later sold it to the British Museum."

Important Union
Then the college professor reviewed the results of "teaming up" of algebra and geometry in the early 1600's. "The occasion for this union had been at hand for centuries. But the hour had not yet struck. A clear peal of the timepiece came in 1637 with the appearance of La Geometrie, by the French philosopher and mathematician Rene Descartes. This work laid the foundation for analytical geometry. The Cartesian system of coordinates is familiar to all college freshmen (I hope)..."

"The joining of two seemingly separate branches of mathematics in La Geometrie gave impetus to the development of calculus, the most powerful tool of the modern mathematician..."

"It may be observed that the history of mathematics parallels our own contact with it. In grade school we learn to count and proceed with the simple manipulation of numbers to find simple areas and volumes. In secondary school we study algebra and geometry. Unfortunately for many people, that is the end. The points are mixed and everything is in readiness to begin the masterpiece, but it is never started. Those who continue with analytical geometry and calculus begin to see the world of ideas which mathematics discloses and to contemplate the divine beauty and order which it induces. The development and refinement of the calculus coupled with the stimulus of the industrial revolution in the 17th century carried mathematics on its modern trend..."

etry and calculus begin to see the world of ideas which mathematics discloses and to contemplate the divine beauty and order which it induces. The development and refinement of the calculus coupled with the stimulus of the industrial revolution in the 17th century carried mathematics on its modern trend..."

Importance Of Math
"Modern mathematics, which dates from the era of Newton, can be roughly divided into four parts: number theory, analysis, algebra and geometry. There are of course many and varied bridges joining them."

Dr. Moorhead then discussed each of the four parts and to modern applications of them such as topology. Then he continued:

"The history of the human race is a story of effort and achievement in the arts and sciences, achievement to which mathematics has contributed greatly. Before the planet Neptune was discovered, astronomers knew that it must exist, since it had a disturbing effect on the orbit of Uranus. G. D. Adams and U. T. T. Leverrier determined the position of Neptune by mathematics; astronomers pinpointed their telescopes on the exact position in the sky and discovered Neptune. The planet Pluto was first observed in 1930 as a result of a similar purely mathematical discovery by Lowell and Pickering. James Clark Maxwell deduced the existence of electromagnetic waves from differential equations. These cal applications or purely theoretical explorations. "The supreme position and the vast power of mathematics today are such that no man can predict the extent of its future achievement. Regardless of a people's religious persuasion, or race, their mathematics will advance with their civilization, indeed, contributing its full share towards that advancement."

Can Abe Lincoln Save Duff Armstrong's Life?

Young Abe Lincoln is a highly respected lawyer around Beardstown, Ill., in the year 1858. His four terms in the state legislature, one term in the U. S. Congress, and his reputation as a likeable, humorous man stand him in good stead with the townspeople.

But—what about the jury that's trying his client, young impetuous Duff Armstrong for murder? They look very much as if their minds were already made up—even before the trial began. And the evidence only tends to confirm their prejudged opinions.

What they forget is that Abe Lincoln is a mighty resourceful fellow, and a crackerjack trial lawyer.

equations are the basis of radio and television communication today.

Not To Be Replaced

"Prior to World War II engineers commonly constructed models when designing a new airplane or projectile. It is not feasible to make models and test each possible design of a modern rocket or supersonic aircraft. Instead, mathematicians set up equations which consider possible significant effects and computing machines are programmed to solve the equations. Twenty-five different rocket designs may be tested in about seven minutes with these computers. Thus many thousand different designs may be completely tested in mathematical laboratories in less time and at a much lower cost than is required to construct one model."

"The question as to whether these large scale computers will put the mathematician out of business displays a lack of basic knowledge about mathematics. By the time computation begins, the mathematics of the problem is already completed. It is not unusual for a mathematician to work for weeks or months without encountering a number in the usual sense of the word. He works with basic ideas and logic."

"Since the time of the Babylonians the bugabear of the mathematician has been the long hours he must set aside to do the drudgery of arithmetic calculations. With the machines developed in the last 10 years to do the computations, the mathematician has more time for creative thinking. There has been a spectacular increase in the demand for trained mathematicians; big industries now employ thousands, and the demand is growing each year."

Age Of Mathematician

"One industrial authority refers to the century 1850 to 1950 as the age of the engineer; he predicts that that the century beginning in 1950 will be known as the age of the mathematician. Judging from the number of research engineers who are returning to universities to obtain advanced degrees in mathematics, he may be correct."

"Intensive and extensive research is being conducted in all parts of the world. The field is broad and deep, apparently inexhaustible. It offers many opportunities for those who are interested in either practical

NAVY STUDIES 2 VANGUARDS' REMAINS; NEXT TRY NOT CLOSE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy studying the remains of two Vanguard rockets that failed, was uncertain today whether it could orbit a fully instrumented earth satellite on schedule next month.

Instead, Navy spokesmen were talking about doing it sometime within the International Geophysical Year. That is their basic commitment. The IGY, a worldwide cooperative research effort, will end Dec. 31.

Meanwhile, it was learned the Air Force has told the Defense Department it believes it could launch a thousand-pound space vehicle by next June. The Air Force would use its Thor intermediate range ballistic missile for such a launching.

Project Vanguard headquarters at the Naval Research Laboratory gave a preliminary explanation of yesterday's second Navy failure.

It said the 72-foot, 11-ton Vanguard, carrying a six-inch test satellite, took off "normally" from Cape Canaveral, Fla. For 57 seconds everything was fine.

Failure In Controls
"Between the 57th and 60th seconds after takeoff, small irregularities occurred in the first-stage engine control system. After the 60th second a failure in the control system caused the engine to deflect far to the right, and the resultant abnormally high forces caused the rocket to break in the middle."

The test range safety officer then pushed a button and the whole rocket was destroyed at about 20,000 feet. Some parts fell into the Atlantic but others dropped to the grassy shore.

Study Salvage
Salvaged particles are now being studied, along with movies and instrument readings, to get a more accurate idea of what went wrong with the three-stage vehicle.

The same kind of post-mortem was held after the first unsuccessful Vanguard attempt last Dec. 6. Less was learned then, however, because the rocket rose only about four feet.

Two more such tests are scheduled applications or purely theoretical explorations.

"The supreme position and the vast power of mathematics today are such that no man can predict the extent of its future achievement. Regardless of a people's religious persuasion, or race, their mathematics will advance with their civilization, indeed, contributing its full share towards that advancement."

Told To "Go Rob A Bank" And He Did

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—A 16-year old boy whose father told him to "go rob a bank" did just that, police said.

The boy and a companion, also 16, were arrested here yesterday. Police said they admitted stealing $36 in cash, a revolver, an electric razor and some foreign coins worth 64 cents from the Prospect Park National Bank earlier in the day.

The father of one of the youths made the unusual admission, apparently in jest, when his son asked him for some money, police said.

TAKE INVENTORY OF HOME AFTER HOLIDAY IS OVER

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Does your home look as if a madman had decorated it? Are tables off-balance, pictures lopsided, and walls painted in patterns that look like they were copied from the walls of prison cells?

A good time to take inventory of your little castle is right now. Wheninsel and color disappear, and you face the stark reality of bareness without glitter once again, you may size up the faults of your manse and give it the pick-me-up it deserves. Resolutions should be written down, placed in a handy spot, and checked off as you reorganize your home. Here are some flaws to look for:

1. Do your color schemes fight with each other, from one room to another? Too-vivid shades are likely to clash, more so than pastels.

2. Are you mad for gimmick wall decorations placing them willy-nilly all over the place? Or is your weakness for eye sore doodads like flower holders that seem to climb all over the walls?

3. Do you use too many patterns in one room? If draperies are in a busy design, rug or chair fabrics should be plain or striped. Three colors should be the maximum for a home decorator to play with.

Check End Tables
4. Do end tables tower over arms of chairs or are they too low?

5. Is your living room so cluttered with furniture—chairs, end tables, coffee tables, magazine racks, etc.—that there is little space for moving around?

6. Do you feel compelled to display every single thing you own in your home—the glass lamp from grandma with indirect lighting, for instance? Park the settee in your attic if it doesn't go with your contemporary furniture. Or sell your modern pieces short, and decorate around your antiques.

7. If you collect something—glass, pewter or copper—do you overburden a room with it or display it appropriately? Window shelves, book cases, Welsh cupboards are good for this purpose.

8. Need a cabinet for paraphernalia? Then find the space for it, and get one.

9. Have animals taken over your home? Are chairs and sofas full of used before the main event—an attempt to hurl a 20-inch man-made moon into an orbit around the globe. The Navy promised to do this in March but that no longer is definite.

SUSPECT SOVIET UNION MAY WISH BREAK IN COLD WAR PRESSURES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top U.S. officials are looking into the possibility that the Soviet Union wants a breathing spell in the cold war badly enough to make some limited disarmament agreements. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are working on a prompt reply to Premier Nikolai Bulganin's note of last Sunday about summit conference issues. They intend to keep the way open for a possible meeting.

One aim reportedly is to explore all the possibilities of agreement which may be desired by the Soviet Union and acceptable to the West—in spite of the lack of encouragement which Eisenhower found in the latest message from Moscow.

New Ambassador Due
The new Soviet ambassador, Mikhail A. Menshikov, is due here late today. Diplomats wondered whether the successor to Georgi N. Zarubin, who left last month, will have fresh instructions about pushing East-West negotiations.

Although some officials consider Bulganin's series of letters only a propaganda effort, others believe that the Soviets, because of internal problems, actually feel the need of a breathing spell sufficiently to agree to some measure of arms limitation and control.

An Internal Problem
One internal problem, according to the best information available to Washington authorities, is that the Soviet people urgently want assurance of peace and this public opinion is something the Kremlin must reckon with.

Another is the Soviet drive toward the fastest possible expansion of industrial production. Soviet leaders also are confronted with problems of persistent restlessness in the Eastern European countries under Communist rule.

dog and cat hairs? Keep cloths over chair seats if animals have full reign in the home, removing the covers when guests arrive.

10. If baby marks walls and furniture, keep the area sponged and clean. It is easy to get in the habit of accepting these scars as inevitable. Keep tabs on small fry infractions of home rules.

Mrs. Bing Crosby Expecting In August

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new Mrs. Bing Crosby has acknowledged happily that the report is true.

"We are expecting a baby," she said through a studio spokesman yesterday, "and both Bing and I hope that everyone will be as pleased as we are."

The baby is expected to arrive about Aug. 15, the studio said. The mother-to-be, actress Kathy Grant, 23, and the singer were married last Oct. 24.

Crosby, 53, had four sons by his previous wife, actress Dixie Lee. She died five years ago.

Betty MacDonald Is Critical With Cancer

SEATTLE (AP)—Mrs. Betty MacDonald, 49, whose breezy story of life on a backwoods chicken farm exploded into a best seller 13 years ago, is in very critical condition at a Seattle hospital. She has cancer.

Mrs. MacDonald's hit story in 1945 was "The Egg and I." Later she turned out "Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle," "The Plague and I," "Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle's Magic," "Anybody Can Do Anything," "Nancy and Plum" and "Onions in the Stew."

The mother of two children, Mrs. MacDonald has been living at Carmel, Calif., in recent years.

GOLDEN BITE
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Buddy, German Shepherd sentry at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, is expected to tear a man apart if the proper occasion arises.

So, when Buddy's teeth began troubling him, he was taken to a dentist.

Buddy now has two gold crowns on his choppers, and base officials estimate he's good for another five years of service.

SAME OLD THING
PELLA, Iowa (AP)—Four-year-old Mark Wessellink, who has two older sisters and was hoping for a baby brother, expressed keen disappointment when the news came that he had "a new baby sister."

"Oh, shucks," Mark complained, "I suppose she'll grow up to be a girl, too."

APPROPRIATE NAME
DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton policeman R. B. Quinn was filling in as police complaint clerk when he received a telephone call reporting a lost dog.

"What's his name?" Quinn asked. "Hardtime, because he gives me one," the dog-owner replied.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A survey of armed forces Sunday schools shows that 111,536 children and adults now are enrolled, a gain of nearly 47 per cent since 1953.

PENNA. WILL CRACK DOWN ON WOMEN'S HOURS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Employers in the northeastern Pennsylvania garment industry have been notified that the Department of Labor and Industry intends to crackdown on what it feels is a "too-liberal" interpretation of state laws concerning the working hours of women.

In a statement yesterday the department said it has received "reports of abuse and loose interpretation" of the law in the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton and the Allentown-Bethlehem areas.

Women have been found working beyond legal hour limits because employers have invoked "emergency" provisions of the law without justification, the department said.

Elizabeth S. Johnson, director of the Bureau of Women and Children said employers henceforth will be issued emergency permits only in "situations over which the employer had no control, and which involved public health and safety."

She said some 800 manufacturers would be affected.

The law limits the work week to 48 hours and six days, but allows 10-hour work days.

Under a new ruling by the State Industrial Board, an emergency is defined as "a situation resulting from fire, floods, storm, epidemic of sickness, act of God, public disaster or government order which requires labor for longer than 10 hours a day or 48 hours a week, in order that life, property, health or the public service may be preserved."

6 Scared Dogs In Fuss Under House

BELTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. D. H. Wilkinson told police that under her house was the "awfullest yapping, whining and howling you ever heard!"

Sonny Blankenship, member of a city crew sent to investigate, found the cause.

Using a rope, Blankenship sent up from the dry 12-foot deep cistern under the home six scared dogs, including the canine temptress that lured them under the house in the first place.

Funeral services for Mrs. Beulah O. Buohl, 73, widow of George W. Buohl, who died Sunday afternoon at her home, 114 Buford Ave., were held on Wednesday at 2 o'clock at the Bender Funeral Home with the Rev. Eliza Myers officiating. Interment was made in the Evergreen Cemetery. The pallbearers were Kenneth Tawney, Wilmer Drachs, James Moore, Harold Heiges and Arthur and Ellsworth Buohl.

WANTS ACTION ON DEPRESSED SECTIONS OF U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Saylor (R-Pa.) said Wednesday legislation to aid economically depressed areas is mandatory and urged the Democratic leadership in Congress to take action.

"It is within the power of the Democratic Party to bring up the bills and act upon them at any time it chooses," Saylor said.

His remarks were made in reply to an appeal from Rep. Diggs (D-Mich.) to sign a petition calling on President Eisenhower to declare depressed areas eligible for priority consideration in granting federal defense contracts and public works projects.

Saylor did not sign the petition. Saylor said the several bills now before Congress to provide aid to establish new industries in surplus labor areas were designed to meet the unemployment problem.

Ike Presented Views
One of these, he said, incorporates the recommendations of the "depressed area legislation must come from Congress and not the executive department," Saylor said. "I suggest that the petition for action be directed to your leaders in the Congress, particularly in view of the fact that the President has already submitted his views on this subject to the House and Senate."

Saylor urged a bipartisan effort to expedite passage of the legislation, adding:

"I do not care whether my bill is the one agreed upon, or whether it is the one which Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), or other members of Congress have sponsored.

Wants Good Measure
"It does not matter whether the author is a Republican or Democrat so long as some satisfactory measure is adopted."

The Douglas bill, co-sponsored by Sen. Clark (D-Pa.), would provide a $25 million dollar fund for loans and grants to help establish industry in labor surplus areas.

An administrative measure, sponsored by Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.), would provide 50 million dollars in a revolving fund for loans to new or expanding industries. A Senate subcommittee last year held extended hearings on the Douglas-Clark bill and the Martin bill. However, no measure has won committee approval. The house has not held hearings on the raft of depressed area bill before it. Saylor said hearings held in Pennsylvania's 22nd congressional district in February 1956, "proved conclusively that depressed area legislation is mandatory."

He said conditions in his district have become much more acute and that 45 of the nation's 149 major areas covered by the labor department's unemployment surveys have been placed in the surplus labor classification.

Wood chips reclaimed from seven sawmills in Maine and New Hampshire annually are commercially used in place of trees that would occupy about 20,000 acres of woodland per year. Formerly the chips were discarded as waste.

NAVY PLANS TO FIRE ANOTHER SATELLITE SOON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite disappointment at Project Vanguard's second failure early Wednesday, director John P. Hagen said he will try "as soon as we can" to send up another satellite rocket.

His words were echoed by Dr. Richard W. Porter, chairman of the satellite technical panel for the International Geophysical Year. "As soon as possible," was Porter's comment.

But neither would hazard a guess as to when a third test attempt will be made, or comment on the failure's effect on a schedule which calls for a fully instrumented satellite to be placed in orbit next month.

"Oh, No!"

Hagen, a mild man who never swears, cut loose with an "Oh, no!" when the second rocket was destroyed in flight, after deviating from its course and breaking into two pieces.

Hagen arrived at Naval Research Laboratory headquarters less than an hour before the scheduled launching.

Inside his office, Hagen, 47, took up his position on a direct telephone line to Cape Canaveral. On the other end was Dr. J. Paul Walsh, his chief assistant, in a hangar near the Vanguard launching pad.

As the launching time approached, Hagen called out the countdown to aides grouped around him.

Count Down

At 10 seconds before takeoff time, Hagen took up the chant one second at a time:

"Ten . . . nine . . . eight . . . seven . . . six . . . five . . . four . . . three . . . two . . . one . . . zero!"

"Ignition . . . Lift off . . . Up!"

And then Hagen kept up a terse running description of what he could hear from Cape Canaveral: "I can hear it roaring . . . running steady . . . still going up . . ."

"Still burning at plus 45 . . . plus 50 . . . plus 60 . . ."

"Something's happened!"

At that point Hagen threw down his pencil.

To those who have worked with the mild Hagen, it was a violent gesture.

Mix one-quarter cup of finely diced pared apple with a pint of slightly softened ice cream; return to freezing compartment so ice cream will become very firm. Serve ice cream between individual meringues whose bottoms have been crushed in.

RECALLED FCC CHAIRMAN ON "PAID TRIPS"

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators digging into misconduct allegations against members of the Federal Communications Commission recalled Chairman John C. Doerfer Wednesday for more questions about trips.

In two days of testimony before a special subcommittee investigating federal regulatory agencies, Doerfer has defended as legal and proper his acceptance at times of expense account payments from the radio-TV industry which FCC regulates.

The six other FCC commissioners, meanwhile, have sat in the hearing room awaiting their turn. Allegations of misconduct on which they will be questioned have gone to Doerfer and four others.

$100 Honorarium

Doerfer said that among various others, he attended a meeting of the Georgia Broadcasters Assn., receiving an honorarium of $100 and his hotel expenses.

He has contended that under the law an FCC commissioner may accept a reasonable honorarium or compensation for speeches.

Doerfer said FCC commissioners also had accepted private transportation from private companies in their work. When the company furnishes transportation, he said, the government is not charged with transportation costs. He said the industry doesn't always pay all the expenses.

Saying, "I could probably go on indefinitely," Doerfer mentioned trips by private or chartered plane to Camden, Ohio, to inspect industrial use of radio, and to Emporia, Pa., and Springfield, Mass., to inspect UHF operations.

Doerfer, a Republican from Milwaukee, was appointed to the commission in 1953 and made chairman last July by President Eisenhower.

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH

The recently formed U.S. Citizens Stamp Advisory Committee is seeing some of its fine work bear stamps.

The fruition was announced by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield as he made public a list of nine commemoratives and one stamp in the "Famous Americans" series for issuance in 1958. The adhesives were recommended by the citizens committee.

The commemoratives are:

HEAD DELIVERY — Johan Tolik, 80, has been delivering oysters in this manner in Amsterdam for past 50 years. Until a year ago he made his rounds on a bicycle, balancing his tray on his head, but traffic now has forced him to walk.

WHAT MAKES A SAINT?

SIoux FALLS, S. D. (AP) — What are the hidden, inner motives that make some people become dedicated saints?

That question should be explored by churches on a systematic basis if they want to shape their appeals to produce the most results, says the Rev. Dr. Dean Goodwin, communications director of the American Baptist Convention. Unconscious motives, he said, produce more action than conscious ones.

MORE SPIRITUAL

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The president of the National Council of Churches, the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, drew this conclusion from a visit to military bases in Alaska: "The moral and spiritual insights of our military men are way ahead of those in civilian life."

NEW PICKER

WAURIKA, Okla. (AP) — Bill Griffin, unhappy with old fashioned methods of picking pecans, got to work and designed a new one. He converted a hydraulic load on his tractor through use of 10-foot I-beams and used tires. Now he just drives up to a tree and shakes the pecans down. The I-beams provide the leverage and the tires prevent damage to the trees.

RIGHT AT HOME — Rep. John Kluczynski (D-Ill.) is on familiar ground when he visits the kitchen of the House restaurant in Washington. He was a caterer before his election.

CHRISTIANITY IS STRONG

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Christianity is at its highest peak of strength in the world, says the Rev. Dr. Kenneth Scott Latourette, noted religious historian of Yale Divinity School. Despite Communist and secular opposition he said, Christianity has become more widespread geographically, more deeply rooted among people, and "more potent today in the affairs of man than ever before."

BIBLE ON TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — American University, a Methodist school, has started a television course on the Bible over Station WMAL-TV. It is reported to be the first such regular TV course of its kind.

RACIAL SOCIALIZING LIMITED

NEW YORK (AP) — Findings of a survey reported in the current issue of the Catholic Digest are that only 3 per cent of northern whites and one per cent of southern whites have ever entertained Negroes in their home. Among Negroes, only 2 per cent of the northerners and less than 1/4 per cent of the southerners have ever received whites socially in their homes.

GOOD SCOUTS

POOLE, England (AP) — Parents were told at a meeting in this Dorset town that the Boy Scout movement is the only uniformed organization in the world larger than the Soviet army.

Navy's Baby Moon Lasted For Just One Wonderful Minute

By VERN HAUGLAND
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—For one wonderful minute it seemed almost certain that a new baby moon was on its way to an orbit.

But only for a minute. Harrowing moments later there was the possibility that the giant rocket might turn against the men who had launched it.

That was how swiftly the scene changed at the ill-fated launch early Wednesday of the Navy Vanguard test vehicle.

From the first everyone watching and waiting for the new attempt to launch the three-stage Vanguard, with the metallic grapefruit satellite in its nose, had his fingers crossed.

Last First Failure
Many of us had seen the last previous Vanguard attempt—Dec. 6—end in fiery ruin on the launching pad.

We had seen what could happen within a complex container full of intricate devices, housing six propellants regulated by 80 valves.

We were on top of a flat-roofed building inside the missile test center, only a mile and a quarter from the Vanguard stand.

We could hardly have had a better view of the missile and still retained a reasonable degree of safety.

Twenty minutes before launch time, now deferred to early morning, searchlights switched on and bathed the tall missile in brilliant light.

"Sluggish At Start"
From here the countdown went swiftly. There were only a couple of brief "holds," and then at 2:33 a.m. the familiar flash of fire.

"It's off," someone shouted. The Vanguard is sluggish at the start. The missile experts worry about the first few seconds, until the missile is four feet off the ground and safely out of its launching basin.

The Vanguard flight calls for it to climb straight up for 10 seconds, at the end of which time it would have climbed only 422 feet and would be traveling 61 miles an hour.

Rocket Tilts Slightly
This specific Vanguard rose smoothly in a great thrust of flame. Its engine roared deafen-ingly. At 10 seconds the white rocket tilted slightly toward the south-east, again as it had been outlined in advance.

Its first stage engine was to burn out 2 minutes and 22 seconds after launching, when the rocket would be 33 miles high and darting upward at 3,700 m.p.h.

"That was a normal takeoff, and now it is on its proper trajectory," a Vanguard official commented.

A full moon looked on. The hot yellow flame of the rocket paled the moonlight and illumined the sky and the sandy beaches for miles around.

Breaks Into Two
Upward the missile climbed—40 seconds, 50 seconds. And then, about 20,000 feet off the ground, the huge tail of fire dipped suddenly, and shifted direction.

"Something has gone wrong," a voice shouted. "She's going to explode."

The missile twisted, then broke into two fiery torches, one much larger than the other.

One, possibly consisting of the entire 44-foot first stage of the Vanguard, tumbled downward. "Look out," one newsman yelled. "It's coming our way."

Perhaps 3,000 feet from the ground both falling patches of flame flickered out in darkness. A second or two ticked by. Then

REPORT LETTER FROM INVESTOR CAUSED SUICIDE

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune has linked the suicide of railroad leader Robert R. Young to a letter he received from a small investor.

Young, chairman of the New York Central Railroad, shot himself Jan. 25 at his Palm Beach, Fla., home.

Business and financial editor Donald I. Rogers said in the Herald Tribune that Mrs. Young found her husband's body, and that Young had opened only one letter of his morning mail that day.

The story continued: The letter, from a small investor—whom Young and many others called "Aunt Jane"—told Young:

"You betrayed me. You did not do what you said you would do. I own 10 shares of Central stock, and it represents a great deal of money to me."

The letter "may not have been the straw that broke the camel's back; but the few intimates who know this story believe that it was."

Only Young's closest friends knew he had suffered a nervous breakdown, apparently his second.

Two dull red flashes, as if from explosions, lighted the water three miles offshore.

What was the trouble? None of the experts would say until after a study of photographs, charts and reports.

STOLEN AUTO DEMOLISHED

WILLIAMSPORT (AP)—Two state police cars chased a fleeing automobile at speeds up to 90 miles an hour for 20 miles north of here Tuesday night. The chase ended abruptly when the fleeing car missed a curve on Route 14 at Bodines and crashed into a utility pole. The driver was not seriously hurt.

Troopers John Callahan and Clifford O'Neal of the Montoursville Barracks said the driver identified himself as Linwood T. Ford, 18, of Gradyville, Delaware County. He was treated at Williamsport Hospital for lacerations of the head.

The car, reportedly stolen at Paradise, Lancaster County, was demolished.

The troopers said the chase began in Williamsport after they had been alerted to look for a car that had driven away from a gasoline station at New Columbia, Union County, without paying for two dollars worth of gasoline.

Ford was held at the Montoursville Barracks pending charges.

Clyde King, 1957 manager of Hollywood, will pilot the Columbus, Ohio, Jets, a Pittsburgh Pirate farm club in the International League, in 1958.

As a nerve-racked man he contemplated the prospects of his railroad and was overwhelmed with a sense of inadequacy. It was then that he knew "Aunt Jane" had, indeed, been betrayed.

Young had tried to straighten out the Central but he couldn't. He had tried to invigorate the entire railroad industry and its trade associations, but he couldn't.

His failure was reflected on "Aunt Jane."

FORMER COACH DIES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Robert G. Brooks, 54, onetime local football star and former head coach at Northumberland High School and assistant coach at Dickinson College, died in a local hospital on Tuesday.

Brooks worked in the State Bureau of Employment Security prior to his hospitalization.

He is survived by his parents, a brother and a sister. Funeral services will be held here Friday.

3 CHILDREN DIE

MT. HOLLY, N.J. (AP)—Three children died Wednesday as flames swept through their Burlington County home near here.

The three victims were identified as Patricia Burroughs, five, and her two brothers, Gordon, four, and Timothy, three.

The mother, Mrs. Sylvia Burroughs, managed to carry two other children from the blazing house. Their father, Thomas, was at work at the time.

Gordon Lasater, Texas rancher who specializes in Brown Swiss bulls and heifers, has 400,000 acres and 20,000 beef cattle. He lives at Falfurrias, Tex.

Soldier In Cuba Writes To His Mother About Horse Loss

The second letter Charles F. Thorne, 314 Baltimore St., wrote to his mother in Gettysburg while he was serving in the U. S. Army in Cuba more than 50 years ago follows in full:

Pinar Del Rio, Cuba
Nov. 7, 1906

Dear Mother:

Your ever welcome letter received a few days ago. I will have to use the pencil as the pen is rusty. We have had rain for four days straight. This morning it stopped and there are a few encouraging signs of clear weather. The rainy season is not quite over yet.

Talk about mud, it is terrible. Our picket lines where we keep our horses are about three quarters of a mile from the quarters and the road is composed of red mud six inches deep. We go down there twice a day to feed and water the horses. They stand in mud and water nearly to their knees. After feeding we have to take them a half mile to water. We have had them just a week yesterday.

Horses In Bad Shape

They were a sorry looking lot when we took them off the train, but my horse was in good shape, hardly had a scratch. Some are in very bad shape yet. One died yesterday from the effects of the trip. They hobble around on three legs. It is pitiful to look at them. They are doing very well and we are lucky to have them.

M Troop had a very hard trip on the boat with the horses. They were caught by that storm and were driven three days off their course. The horses had light partitions between them on the boat and when the storm was the worst the boat pitched so hard that the horses, partitions and everything piled up in one end of the boat. They had to use steam hoists to get them separated.

Horse Fights For Life

One horse made an extraordinary fight for life. He was under a pile of 15 dead horses where he could not be reached by the men. He wriggled himself from under the pile and stood on his feet. He is here now, but doesn't look like a horse. His limbs are swollen to about twice their size and the hair and skin are entirely rubbed off on his right side.

Out of about 260 horses there were 150 thrown overboard or died since landing. We lost 18 horses of our troop. E troop lost 52. They didn't have many left, 65 to a troop. E Troop's captain lost a fine black horse. It was the first to be thrown overboard. Chas. Rose is in my troop. His horse is in bad shape yet. He could hardly walk from the station to the quarters. He puts one in mind of a unicorn. All the boys that had pretty horses have ugly old plugs now. I guess there will be a few that will never be sound again.

When the stock train pulled in with our horses we were all down there. When the horses saw us they all whinnied. My horse answers to my whistle and he threw his head up when I whistled at him in the car.

Had False Alarm

A few nights ago we had a false alarm. A large number of Insurrectors came to town and it was rumored that there would be an attack made on the "Rural Guards" (Cuban soldiers) so everybody in quarters was aroused and ammunition was gotten out besides the regular amount carried and I troop was sent out to guard the horses. We slept with our clothes on all night but there was nothing came of it. Things have been quiet since.

All Carry Knives

There are lots of them in town all the time. Pack trains go out every night with provisions and all kinds of things for them. They all go armed with pistols and "machetes" (pronounced ma-chetti). It is about three feet long made of steel, one and a half inches wide and very sharp. They cut sugar cane with them on the plantations. All the rural guards carry them too. Most every native from little boys up carry knives in their belts all the time and they know how to use them. Last night a couple of natives had a fight and cut each other pretty badly.

At last the sun is shining. Almost everything I own is wet and damp. You can polish a pair of shoes in the evening and the next morning they will be covered with mold. I suppose on account of so much rain.

From all reports and rumors we will stay here at least six months if not more. It will not be so bad after the rainy season. We will only have the heat, dust and mosquitoes then. It is impossible to sleep without a netting over you. These mosquitoes seem to be wiser than the average native here. (In asking to be remembered to his school teachers he adds) Would like to be going to school now, just to make a noise (and closes) and answer soon as a letter looks mighty good here. I am well and hope this will find all in good health.

Letter To Sister

The third letter from Charles Thorne, native of Gettysburg who was in Army service in Cuba in 1906, this one addressed to his sister, follows:

I have been waiting for a letter and got tired waiting so I will write myself. I would have written sooner but we have been out for five days on a march of about 75 miles. Started last Monday at 7 a.m. We went from here to a little town along the south coast called Coloma. It is right on a little bay. The main street is the water front. We stopped there one night and everybody had a salt water swim, bites. We also had a breakfast of fine fish the next morning.

Before I got dark my "bunkie" oya s rbu otato di wenn thele canda and we had the largest time. We asked the man for a candle and he said, "yes, yes, me Savvy." Well, he brought out an old chair I suppose had been in the store since it started, but we finally made him understand what we wanted. It was certainly comical. They all talk with their hands and arms and the motions he went through were great.

From Coloma we went about fourteen miles inland and camped at a ranch house for two nights and a day. The ranch is owned by a Cuban family. The father stays in Havana while two of the sons run the ranch. They are very rich. One son has been to school in the States and can talk good English. There is no town, only a post office.

The first night, after supper, our quartet got together and sang a few songs. In a few minutes we had a large audience. There were natives from miles around to hear us. We have a pretty good quartet. I am part of it, and everybody sang good. We had a little music too. One of the boys had his mouth organ with him. They certainly enjoyed that. What made the hit was the song "Navajo." We had to sing it over and over.

The next night we had a dance in one of their barns. It wasn't much of a success as ladies were scarce but we all enjoyed ourselves. They gave us a young pig to bring back with us as we came back here from the ranch. It is a very large piece of land for a Cuban, 200,000 acres. They have about 50,000 head of cattle. We had a regular picnic on the trip.

Roads Were Dry

The roads were dry which is the main thing on a march. If it had rained we would have been swimming yet on our way back. From here to Coloma we took the military road which extends from here to Havana. It is a very good road. After leaving it we had to pick our own road marching in single file, but from the ranch here we took a sort of main road. In some places it is half a mile wide. When a part is washed away they drive around it and every time it rains a new road is started. Fences are few and far between so there is lots of room.

We are back to the same grind now, garrison duty. We may go

Boy Scouts, on 48th Birthday, Begin National Safety Good Turn

More than 4,700,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult leaders throughout the nation will observe Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13, marking the 48th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Boy Scout Week sees the launching of a yearlong Safety Good Turn suggested by President Eisenhower, honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America.

In cooperation with other organizations giving leadership in safety, the Scouts will promote traffic safety in March, April and May; outdoor safety in June, July and August, home safety in September, October and November.

10 Caught Without Inspection Emblems

Mrs. Lavinia A. MacCarty, Hanover, has been charged with operating a car with an expired inspection sticker, and William A. Hess, East Berlin, R. 3, with passing another vehicle in a no-passing zone on Carlisle St. Hanover, following their apprehension Monday by state police of the Gettysburg detail. Both charges were filed with Justice of the Peace George A. Lippy, Hanover.

State police said Mrs. MacCarty is the tenth person to be arrested so far for having an expired inspection sticker on their cars. The local state police office at noon today said it had no reports turned in so far concerning operators arrested for driving with expired driver's licenses, but said such arrests may have been made since the first of the month by individual patrolmen and forms have not as yet been filed at the office.

out again before long as they draw maps of all the trips and want to get a map of all the island. A commissioned officer does the map drawing. We haven't heard of any outbreaks yet but when their election time draws near there may be trouble. They can start any time, we have plenty of ammunition for them and they won't get it the way they want it.

Our mess sergeant was out today looking for turkeys to have on Thanksgiving Day, but he didn't get any yet. We have three squares a day but it is not like home. L Troop is the troop that lives the best, if I have to say it myself but we have a good cook and a captain that looks after the men first. On our marches he lines up with the rest of us for his share of dinner.

Washington Whispers

By Jane Eads

By DR. NANCY BAYLEY
The Associated Press

Can you tell how smart your baby is or how smart he'll be when he grows up?

According to the results of 35 years of research into the processes of early growth and development, the answer is "no."

Some children will do certain things ahead of normal schedule and some will be a little behind. A child who later turns out to be relatively dull may be early in some kind of infant behavior; one who is slower in infancy may grow up much brighter than normal.

Repeated tests have shown that there is absolutely no relation between the IQs taken during the first and third years.

What good, then, are these measurements of infant behavior? They are valuable for showing the rate at which an infant is maturing, and for noting whether he is happy and responsive and showing healthy progress in comparison with his earlier growth.

If the baby is unresponsive or shows poor progress in relation to his earlier achievements, steps may be taken to discover the trouble.

Tests taken at the age of 2 are a somewhat better indication of the child's later intelligence. In the 4 or 5-year-old, tests are fairly accurate in predicting the later general level of intelligence.

Few children's IQs, however, remain exactly the same throughout childhood and occasionally a child's IQ may shift as much as 30 points. Most children show some periods of rapid growth and maturation and some of relatively slow growth.

These varying rates of growth depend partly upon the child's inherent growth processes and partly on emotional factors or encouragements and opportunities for development.

Each child has his own pattern of growing intelligence. He inherits a potentiality for mental growth from his parents but he fulfills it only to the extent that he is free from discouragement and depressing emotions and is interested in and encouraged to solve problems and think clearly about things appropriate to his stage of development.

OPPOSE HASTY MOVE TO STRIP DEFENSE DEPT. OF SATELLITES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican senatorial leaders lined up solidly today against any hasty move to take control of satellites and space weapons programs out of the Defense Department.

Senators Knowland (R-Calif.), Bridges (R-NH) and Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said in separate interviews they believe any precipitate action to create a separate space agency under civilian control might interrupt vital efforts to match the Soviet Union in the race to the stars.

President Eisenhower has directed Dr. James M. Killian Jr., his science adviser, to look into the matter and report to him whether the space program should be left in the Pentagon or transferred to a new agency.

Skirt Final Decision

A Senate House conference committee dominated by Democrats skirted any final decision on the issue of civilian-vs.-military control. It wrote into an Air Force construction bill compromise language allowing the secretary of defense to go ahead for a year with development of missiles, rocket weapons system and satellites.

The terms of the compromise avoided either authorizing or prohibiting the establishment of the Advanced Research Projects Agency within the Defense Department to manage missiles and satellite programs.

Secretary of Defense McElroy has contended he already has authority to establish the agency under his direct control. Under the compromise language he could direct the development of systems through "his designee." Previously the individual services have had a large measure of control over this work.

Expect Approval
Presidential approval would be required for space projects with no immediately military application, such as the Navy's Vanguard.

Both the Senate and the House are expected to approve terms of the compromise, but it could bring sharp debate in both houses.

Knowland, Senate Republican leader, forecast that Congress will be asked to act in this session on the issue of civilian-vs.-military control of space projects. He said he hasn't made up his own mind on the question but believes any hasty shift in responsibility might delay missile development.

EXTRA-GOOD GREEN PEAS
Ingredients: 1½ tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 small onion (cut into thin rings), 1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms, 1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas, water, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper.

Method: Melt butter in saucepan; add onion rings and drained mushrooms, reserving mushroom liquid. Cook over low heat, stirring often, until onions are golden. Add frozen peas. Add enough water to mushroom liquid to make ½ cup and pour in with salt and pepper. Bring to a boil, separating peas if necessary. Boil gently about 5 minutes or until peas are tender. Serve with pan juices or remove peas and other vegetables with slotted spoon and reduce pan liquid by boiling, then pour small amount left over peas. Makes 4 servings.

GOOD DINNER
Veal Chops Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Carrots Bread Tray
Italian Green Peppers
Assorted Pastry Beverage

ITALIAN GREEN PEPPERS
Ingredients: 3 large green peppers, ¼ cup olive oil, 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Method: Cut any stems from peppers so they won't catch on fire. Hold a pepper under cold water and insert a long-handled fork in the top of the wet pepper. Hold close to a gas flame, turning as necessary, until skin is charred black — this may take 5 minutes. Rub skin off under cold running water, using a small Repeat process for other 2 peppers. Remove seeds from peppers and cut each into about a dozen long strips. Beat olive oil, vinegar and salt together in a jar. Add pepper strips; refrigerate overnight.

AFTERNOON COFFEE

PECAN PIE COOKIES
Ingredients: 1 cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1/3 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 eggs, ¾ cup dark corn syrup, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¾ cup sliced pecans (or walnuts).

Method: Sift together 1 cup flour and the baking powder. Stir in the light brown sugar; make sure sugar has no lumps by sifting if necessary. Cut in butter with pastry blender thoroughly. Mixture will look dry; pat evenly in bottom of buttered baking pan (11 by 7 by 1½ inches). Bake in about 10 minutes. Stir together the dark brown sugar and 3 tablespoons flour. Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add corn syrup, sugar-flour mixture, salt and vanilla; mix well. Pour over partly baked mixture; sprinkle with pecans. Return to moderate oven; bake 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool; cut in bars and remove from pan.

Walking Stick Sprouts Into Tree

MONCURE, N. C. (AP) — On a lofty hill one mile from here stands a large mock-orange tree that was once a walking cane.

The cane belonged to Waverly Lassiter, whose hobby was walking. One day Lassiter returned to his home with the green stick in his hand. Before entering the house, he casually stuck the stick in the soft dirt and left it there.

The stick sprouted and began to grow, day by day, year by year. Today it is more than 50 years old.

MEASURING EVIDENCE
DANVILLE, Va. (AP) — The state chemists reported the contents of the dishwasher included 16.35 per cent alcohol by volume and tested out at 32.7 proof. This was key evidence in the conviction of Goldie Brandon—who poured a jar of something into the kitchen sink when police arrived—on an illegal liquor possession charge.

ELK CITY, Okla. (AP) — It was like the old cattle driving days when 50 heads of calves broke loose from a sales barn here. The calves ran through town for hours until they were all rounded up.

BELIEVE FRIEND OF EMBEZZLER IS IN FLORIDA

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—Delaware County authorities said Wednesday they believe the attractive red-haired friend of suspended Collingdale School Superintendent Faber E. Stengle is in Florida.

Investigators said they want to question the 36-year-old widow, who lived in West Philadelphia part of the time and near Lebanon, Pa., the balance of each week.

They said they want to ask her what, if anything, she may know about Stengle's alleged theft of between $125,000 and $200,000 in school board funds over a 10-12 year period.

Gave Her Auto
The 67-year-old school official was held in $10,000 bail for the grand jury on Tuesday in connection with the embezzlement of the money. He told police he had dated Mrs. Margaret P. (Bonnie) Barnes for some time and not only paid part of her apartment rent here, but also showered her with expensive gifts—including an automobile.

Stengle was arrested in St. Petersburg, Fla., last Friday and was flown back here for arraignment. He said his wife had no knowledge of the speculations. The couple has no children.

Stengle who was paid $9,400 a year in his school post, told detectives Mrs. Barnes did not know where he got the money with which he bought her gifts. He said she was under the impression he received a much larger salary than he actually did.

Check Ex-Boy Friend
Delaware County Dist. Atty. Raymond R. Start said today at least two acquaintances of Mrs. Barnes told authorities they have reason to believe she is in Florida.

Start said that in Jonestown, Pa., near Lebanon, an ex-Marine boy friend of Mrs. Barnes said the woman told him she was leaving the Lebanon area to go to Florida. And the landlady of the apartment Mrs. Barnes occupied on a part-time basis in West Philadelphia said the woman cleared out her personal belongings three weeks ago, saying she planned a trip to Florida.

Meanwhile, Stengle was committed to Delaware County Jail pending posting of bail.

Investigators said the school official managed to cover up the shortages by cashing 8 to 10 checks monthly and switching deposits and payments in several school accounts.

Members of the school Board said the shortages left the school district virtually without funds. Teachers have been told they will receive their next pay, due in two weeks, but after that some other financial arrangements will have to be made.

Parking Meters To Help Orphans

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The parking meter, which is found on main streets all over the country, has been turned into a fund-raiser for orphan boys at the lake home of a Tulsa engineer.

G. E. Nicholson has six meters in the backyard of his place at Lake Fort Gibson and houseguests are expected to pay. If they forget, he writes a "ticket" and "fines" them $1. When the meter coin boxes are full he collects the nickels and dimes and turns it over to the Tulsa Boys Home.

NEW EXCUSE
TORONTO (AP)—A man convicted of his second "impaired driving" offense at suburban Long Beach told the magistrate the policeman who stopped his car could smell alcohol "because we were near a gin factory."

Official managed to cover up the shortages by cashing 8 to 10 checks monthly and switching deposits and payments in several school accounts.

Members of the school Board said the shortages left the school district virtually without funds. Teachers have been told they will receive their next pay, due in two weeks, but after that some other financial arrangements will have to be made.

TEN COVERED BRIDGES GO IN 2 YEARS IN PA.

HARRISBURG — The number of covered wooden bridges on the state highway system declined by 10 during the past two years and there are now 132 state-maintained covered wooden bridges, Secretary of Highways Lewis M. Stevens reports.

These are in addition to covered bridges on roads not a part of the state system. Those bridges are maintained by counties or other political subdivisions.

Greene County in the Commonwealth's southwest corner continues to have the largest number of the picturesque spans, 20. Bedford and Columbia Counties share second place with 14 covered bridges each. Lancaster County has 12 and Adams County 11.

10 Out In Two Years
Of the 10 removed in the past two years, three were in Columbia County, two in Lancaster County, and one each in Chester, Juniata, Lycoming, Somerset and Washington Counties.

Two were removed during 1957 and eight during 1956.

Since the end of the Second World War, there have been as many as 359 covered wooden bridges on the state system, but normal replacement and natural disasters have claimed nearly two-thirds of them.

According to Department of Highways' records, the oldest covered wooden bridge on the state system was constructed in 1834 over the Tulpehocken Creek between Spring and Bern Townships in Berks County. It has a span of 141 feet and has a posted capacity of five tons.

Longest In State
Longest covered wooden bridge on the state system is the one over Conodoguinet Creek in Hampden Township, Cumberland County. Its two spans cover 318 feet. Erected in 1893, the bridge has a posted capacity of seven tons.

Only two bridges are posted to carry up to 15 tons. One is in Indiana County and the other in Perry County. Two, one in Adams County and one between Cumberland and York Counties, are posted for weights as high as 10 tons.

The Department of Highways never has constructed a covered wooden bridge. They became part of the State Highway system through a series of enactments by the General Assembly. Almost all bridges constructed by the Department of Highways at present are of steel and reinforced concrete.

Spruce or pine was used for most of the covered wooden bridges in use today. Hemlock was used in a few of the covered structures. There were two reasons for use of such

NEW YORK SEEKS TO CURB CRIME IN CITY SCHOOLS

NEW YORK (AP)—The Board of Education, with Mayor Robert F. Wagner's approval, has announced a program to curb crime in the city's schools.

Every point in the program has been under public consideration before, including a key proposal that six more special schools be opened for disturbed youngsters.

School violence flared anew. A 16-year-old white student said he was robbed of his wristwatch and 70 cents by a husky Negro boy on a third-floor stair landing of Manhattan's High School of Music and Art.

Negroes Beat Librarian
In Brooklyn, a public librarian was pummeled by three Negro timber, its availability in the neighborhood and because spruce, pine and hemlock provided the longest beams.

The roof and sides were erected to protect the wooden flooring from rot.

There are approximately 21,000 bridges on the State Highway System.

public school girls when the librarian accused one of using a forged book card. Meanwhile, several of the girls' boy schoolmates, also Negro, were stealing $1.50 from library "fine" money.

The librarian, a white woman, suffered cuts on the neck and wrist. The girl who touched off the incident was arrested as a juvenile delinquent.

The six proposed special schools would handle upwards of 1,200 pupils. Last week the Board of Education, in its budget request, asked for $500,000 for the schools. Five such schools are already in operation.

Expand Service
The board also proposed expansion of attendance, guidance and counseling service and said teachers should be assured of full support "in the strict enforcement of reasonable disciplinary measures."

The board asked New York state to provide additional correction facilities for minors who "require removal from normal society" and it called for immediate consideration of what to do with children convicted of delinquency who are returned to school on parole or probation.

GAFFNEY, S. C. (AP)—The machine itself is not really that old. Mrs. I. B. Kendrick says of a used sewing machine she recently bought. She found an 1821 dime in the bottom of the case.

President Tells Press U.S. Is Working On U.S.-Russian Conference; Hope Is Faint

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's voice was a bit hoarse at his press conference Wednesday morning. He said he developed the cold when he returned from Augusta Sunday.

Some of the matters discussed at the conference included:

SUMMIT—The United States is working very hard in an effort to make a summit conference with the Soviet Union possible. But at that point, Eisenhower said, he sees no basis for any truly favorable conclusion on either of two points: that U.S.-Soviet relations have improved, or that the prospects for a summit meeting are better.

That was in response to a question as to whether he feels the series of letters he and Soviet Premier Bulganin have exchanged contributed to any betterment of relations.

No Atom-free Zone
On a related point, Eisenhower said emphatically that the United States will never agree unilaterally to creation of any atom-free zone in Europe as part of a disarmament plan.

The other free nations concerned, Eisenhower said, are exposed to great danger with respect to Russia, and they must be participants in any agreement regarding establishment of a zone clear of nuclear arms.

DOERFER—One of his lawyers has advised him, Eisenhower said, that members of federal regulatory commissions are entitled to accept reasonable honorariums, or fees, for such things as making speeches.

Had Doerfer In Mind
Eisenhower made that remark when asked whether he thinks it proper for members of such commissions to accept such fees.

The questioner obviously had in mind the case of John C. Doerfer, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, whose acceptance of fees is under investigation by a House subcommittee.

Eisenhower said he knows very little about the specific case, but that he has read something of it in the newspapers. He said his lawyer adviser told him members of such committees may not engage in other business activities but that the law says reasonable honorariums may be accepted.

ADAMS — Eisenhower said he sees no basic difference between him and his chief aide, Sherman Adams, with respect to political speeches they made last Jan. 20.

Defense Of Politics
In his speech, Eisenhower called for leaving defense out of politics in this year's congressional election campaigns. In another speech the same night, Adams accused the Democrats of "politicizing with national defense," and said the administration was set to take on the political opposition on that issue.

Asked about a possible contradiction between the two statements, the President shot back he sees no basic difference. Adams, he went on, said there should be no partisanship in defense. He also said, Eisenhower added, that he had a rebuttal ready if partisanship did develop.

Eisenhower said he himself has prepared no such rebuttal and does not intend to do so. Adams did, the President said, and he was honest about it. An Eisenhower went on, he thinks Adams had the right to say what he did.

Confers With Stassen
STASSEN—Eisenhower put in a political plug for Harold E. Stassen, his disarmament adviser, if Stassen decides to run for governor of Pennsylvania.

There were published reports last weekend that Stassen either would resign soon to bid for the governorship on the Republican ticket, or Eisenhower would request his resignation as presidential disarmament aide.

Asked about that situation—and whether he would be pleased to see Stassen elected governor of Pennsylvania—Eisenhower replied that he and Stassen have already had a couple of conferences regarding the future, and they have another scheduled this week to see exactly what should be done.

Eisenhower then went on to say that Stassen has many traits which would be admirably fitted for such an office (the governorship).

"Great Administrator"
The President then called Stassen a great administrator and indefatigable worker.

At Harrisburg, Pa., George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, issued a flat "no comment" when told of the President's views.

A number of state GOP leaders have contended they have found no sentiment for Stassen as a possible candidate for governor.

SATELLITES—Eisenhower had no direct comment on the avy's second failure to get its Vanguard satellite into orbit. The latest attempt fizzled early today when the rocket faltered and was destroyed after a successful launching.

No Moon Trip Forecast
Eisenhower was asked whether any consideration is being given to ordering the Air Force into the scientific satellite program, in addition to the Army, in view of the two Vanguard failures.

He made no direct reply. He said only that all outer space projects in the Defense Department are to be handled under the direction of Secretary of Defense

McElroy at this time.

As for prospects of a round trip to the moon within the next ten years, Eisenhower said Wernher von Braun, Army missile expert, made no such forecast to him at a White House dinner last night.

Von Braun was quoted in some published reports as having made such a prediction.

Have No Timetable
Eisenhower said none of the scientists he knows have fixed any timetable for a trip to the moon.

TARIFFS—A reporter told Eisenhower that in some quarters he is regarded as a high protectionist tariff man, and that the tariff commission has been packed by the President with such protectionist advocates.

Eisenhower replied he has never knowingly appointed a high protectionist to the commission.

EDUCATION—Told there have been some complaints that his education program is insufficient to meet the country's needs, and that once again it has been tied up with a segregation issue, Eisenhower said he had not heard about the introduction of the segregation issue. He said it distressed him.

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

Young mothers-to-be have discovered that a maternity wardrobe needs at least one item specifically designed to give the spirit a lift on gloomy days.

A bright idea for this purpose is a jacket of bright wool felt with a little mandarin collar and brass buttons. Local sewing center experts chose jade green felt for a model jacket, easy to make at home, using a standard pattern.

As any home seamstress knows, felt is one of the easiest of fabrics to sew, since it can't ravel and so needs no seam bindings or hems.

Decorative Stitching
The maternity jacket selected is trimmed with decorative stitching, easy to do with the new machines, or with the automatic zigzag attachment for standard machines. A double row of stitching accents the front closing and the little side slits. Even buttonholes are done automatically, in contrasting thread to match the rest of the decorative stitching.

The little mandarin collar is lined with organdy and the stitching on this is done before the collar is attached to the jacket.

It's a good idea to make several jackets at once, in different colors, using the assembly line system. Do all the cutting at once, all the buttonholes at once and all the decorative stitching at once. This way it takes very little more time to make two or three jackets than it does to make one.

False Picture Of West In Vienna

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Many people in Vienna still believe that Californians depend on buffalo meat for food, says a University of Southern California professor who recently returned from Austria.

"They get lots of rock 'n' roll and American movies," says Dr. Stanley R. Townsend, "but as for an authentic picture of America, they haven't got much farther than James Fenimore Cooper and the old westerns."

ANCIENT LAW

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP)—An old city ordinance here requires every male resident to work a day and a half every year on city streets, provide a substitute if he doesn't work or pay a fee of $1.50. Police Judge Ernest Hartwell discovered the ancient law while recodifying the city's statutes.

HEALTHY BURGLAR

CLOVIS, N. M. (AP)—Police here are looking for a healthy burglar with a big appetite. They reported that an intruder overlooked money when he entered the Humphrey Milkway here but took 26 gallons of milk, five dozen eggs and four quarts of an orange drink.

THREE STRIKES

BIGFORK, Mont. (AP) — E. A. Miller will never be convinced that lightning never strikes twice. Within three minutes a telephone pole, a haystack and an open field, all within 100 feet of Miller's home, were hit by lightning during a thunderstorm.

ESCAPE FROM EIGHT-BALL
NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — For a while, a 21-year-old Newark man was behind the eight-ball.

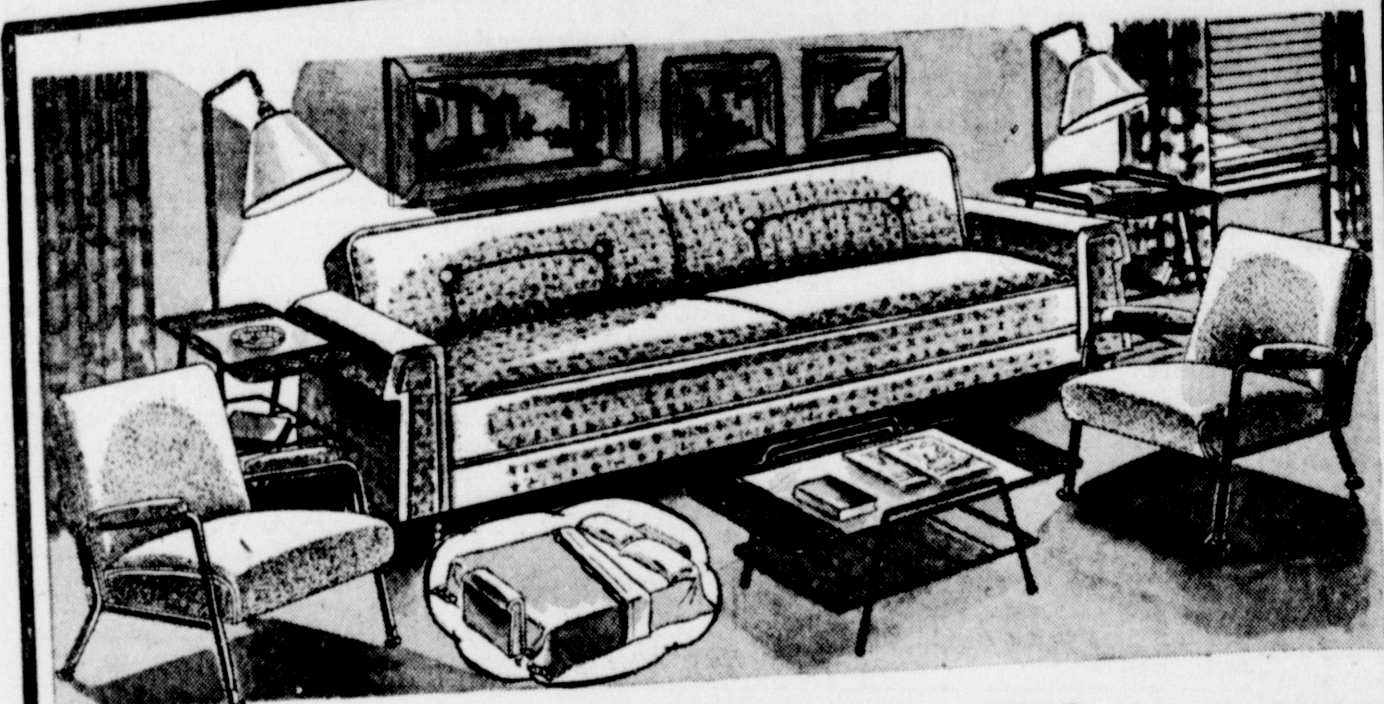

Police said he stole one of the traditional trouble-balls from the rack of a West Side poolroom.

But no theft charge was filed — poolroom operator Joseph Blamer didn't live up to his name.

Only basketball teams to retain sectional crowns in 1957 were West Virginia and Southern Methodist.
